

FIRST LADY . . . predecessor at White House.

Jackie, Mamie To Work For Culture

Washington (AP)—Smiling and looking in the best of spirits, Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower came back Friday to familiar ground—the White House.

She joined Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy in efforts toward promoting a national center for drama, music and the dance in the nation's capital. They are honorary co-chairmen of the project committee.

Their meeting was brief, lasting only 35 minutes over tea in the upstairs Oval Room. Seven other leaders of the movement joined them for tea, and President Kennedy dropped in briefly to say hello.

On Tee Vee
It was announced later that the two first ladies will appear on a closed circuit television dinner and extravaganza Nov. 29. The affair is designed to kick off a drive for money to build the National Cultural Center. Their husbands also may participate.

Mrs. Eisenhower was wearing a printed black and white silk dress and matching small draped turban with her famous strawberry bangs showing.

Mrs. Kennedy wore a pale green textured silk dress with a 6-button double-breasted effect at the top.

Little Chance
There was little chance for personal conversation between the two first ladies, it was reported, and Mrs. Eisenhower did not get a chance to inspect changes made in the White House.

Roger L. Stevens, a New York theatrical producer and real estate operator who is chairman of the cultural center board of trustees now, said later that both first ladies were very enthusiastic about the center.

The cultural center committee hopes to raise some $30 million to build the center. It was authorized by Congress provided the funds are raised by public subscription. The kickoff closed-circuit television event will include simultaneous dinners and auditorium showings in cities across the country.

Seek Extension Of Wheat, Feed Grain Programs . . .

DEMO LEADERS GLOOMY

Cooley Says 'We Have No Choice'

... Freeman's Office Blasts GOP

Washington (AP)—The shape of an abject compromise—an extension of present emergency wheat and feed grain programs—emerged Friday as dust settled after the stunning defeat of the administration's farm bill.

Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., introduced the new measure after holding a glum post mortem on the death of the farm bill with Secretary of Agriculture Freeman and Democratic members of his House Agriculture Committee.

Such a one-year extension of present programs was just what Republican farm leader Rep. Charles B. Hoeven of Iowa tried to substitute for the administration bill on the House floor Thursday night. His amendment failed, but the later move to kill the bill carried 215 to 205.

Cooley said "we have no choice but to turn to the program that is the second best available to us . . . We cannot afford to return in 1963 to the Benson farm program which filled our warehouses with surpluses at a continued cost of billions to the taxpayers. This is what will happen if we do not act at all."

Quick Approval Sought
Cooley told the House he hopes to win committee approval of the new bill Monday.

The emergency one-year wheat and feed grain voluntary control programs will expire this year unless new legislation is passed, and the law would revert to the 1958 act of Republican Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, which provided price supports on any amount of grain produced.

Meanwhile Freeman's office issued an angry blast saying the American farmer and American taxpayer "will not soon forgive the Republican Party for its blind opposition" to the administration bill.

The present emergency grain programs have a voluntary acreage reduction feature.

The bill that was killed would have clamped mandatory acreage reduction controls and national marketing quotas on wheat and feed grains, the most troublesome surplus crops.

Bill is Pigeonholed
Republicans termed it a monstrosity that would mean "regimentation or ruin" for farmers. Despite a lengthy list of sweetening amendments accepted by the leadership, 48 Democrats joined the Republicans to pigeonhole the bill.

Both Cooley and his vice chairman, Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., said the first inkling they had that their bill was down the drain was halfway through the roll call.

Cooley said that before the vote started "I was sure we had it. I felt better about it than I did at any time up to then."

Hoeven said Friday he thought one-year extensions of the present laws were what Congress would wind up with. "It's a cinch it will be a voluntary program," Hoeven said. "They tried controls last year and got beaten and they tried controls this year and got beaten."

The defeat of the administration bill "shows that these pressure tactics just don't pay," he added. "And it also shows those Democrats knew this was a bad bill."

But a new roadblock loomed when Chairman Allen Ellender, D-La., of the Senate Agriculture Committee said that under no circumstances would he try to put through an extension of the emergency wheat and feed grains programs.

"I wouldn't waste a minute on it," he said. "Let them go ahead and produce and fill up the bins . . . It will mean the whole farm program for these crops will go down . . . People won't stand for these surpluses forever."

Next Move On Berlin Soviet's

... MUST DROP DEMAND

Bonn, Germany (AP)—The United States will make no further proposals to Russia for settling the Berlin crisis until the Soviets stop insisting that Western troops get out of the divided city, authoritative diplomatic sources said Saturday.

The sources said this does not mean that Washington will discontinue exploratory talks with Russia.

"However, it is up to the Russians to make the next move," one of the informants said.

Told Adenauer
Apparently this is what Secretary of State Dean Rusk told West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in a 5-hour meeting here Friday.

Such a position could explain Adenauer's statement that the United States and West Germany are in full agreement on the Berlin issue.

Adenauer has consistently held that current U.S.-Soviet talks seeking a common basis for Berlin negotiations would be fruitless.

The sources said that the last meeting between Rusk and Soviet Ambassador Anatoli Dobrynin in Washington Monday was nothing more than empty talk.

Their Turn
"It seems that the Russians asked for the meeting only because it was their turn to propose it," an informant said.

American sources reported earlier that the United States may press the Soviet Union for a 4-power agreement to put a stop to the increasing gunplay along Berlin's wall.

Both Adenauer and Rusk told reporters their talks resulted in full agreement on all questions of mutual interest, including Berlin.

Increasing Danger
American sources said the increasing danger of serious trouble as a result of shootings across the Berlin wall by East German guards probably will cause the United States to suggest a get-together with the Soviet Union, Britain and France, the 4 occupation powers.

More than 30 persons have been killed in trying to get through the wall. Two East German guards were killed recently. The shooting has been getting wilder, and West German police have begun to build their own trenches and sandbag nests.

From the Western viewpoint, a 4-power meeting would be a natural strategem to emphasize over-all Soviet responsibility in East Berlin as an occupation power.

Swedes Spend Day With Talks, Parades, Feasts

By GENE BUDIG
Outstate Nebraska Bureau
Stromsburg —Alla var Svenska Fredag.

Or in Yank-talk: Everybody was a Swede Friday. Some 3,000 persons joined in the merriment of an old fashioned Swedish holiday, known around here as the Stromsburg Festival.

Time For Fun
"It's a time for fun. It's a time to forget your troubles," explained Lawrence Lind, general chairman of the colorful affair.

The festival is a carry-over custom from the old country, according to Lind, who reported:

"Many such festivals are being held in Sweden this time of the year. They are designed for the purpose — fun."

Friday was spent in parading, feasting and talking of the old ways.

Everybody Feasts
The young did the parading; the old did the talking; and everybody did the feasting.

"We had more than 120 children in the parade," Lind said. "Each participant won a prize of some nature."

Climax of the festival came with the crowning of Don Nordberg and Laura Lauer as king and queen.

Others in the royal court were H. Christensen, Mildred Flodman, Herb Olson and Annette Lindberg.

"Members of the court were picked on the basis of outstanding community service," the spokesman added.

The Stromsburg Commercial Club sponsors the yearly affair.

Doctor Killed In Accident

Waterloo (AP)—Dr. Robert C. Byers Jr., a 43-year-old Fremont physician, was killed Friday night when the sports car he was driving went off Highway 75 a mile south of Waterloo and traveled 237 feet before hitting a tree.

His wife, Frances, 37 years old at the time, was killed in an accident north of Fremont in June, 1961, in a similar crash. The doctor was driving then.

The death raised Nebraska's 1962 traffic toll to 142. It was 141 on June 23 of last year.

Unit Offers To Mediate Flight Engineers Battle

New York (AP)—The National Mediation Board Friday offered to mediate the dispute of flight engineers who are scheduled to strike at 1 p.m., EST, Saturday against Eastern Air Lines and Pan American World Airways. A union spokesman said the flight engineers would strike regardless.

Board member Robert O. Boyd said in Washington it's the board's opinion that, in offering its services, both sides are required to maintain the status quo under terms of the Railway Labor Act.

In telegrams to both management and the Flight Engineers' Union, the board asked that no strike action be taken pending a proposed meeting here Monday between their negotiators and board member Francis O'Neill Jr. A union official said late Friday night no message from the board had been received.

The official, O. N. Roberts, vice president of the union's Eastern Air Lines chapter, was informed of the board offer by newsmen and was asked if the engineers still planned to carry out their strike. "This is right," he replied emphatically.

The board acted in the dispute under a section of the Railway Labor Act which says the board "may proffer its services in case any labor emergency is found by it to exist at any time."

Board member Boyd, however, said he could not go so far as to say that a strike now would be illegal.

The flight engineers called for the strike earlier unless new contracts were reached. They rejected as "completely unsatisfactory" the proposed settlement worked out for a similar dispute between engineers and Trans World Airlines.

Carriers And On-Train Workers Break Off Talks

Work Rules Dispute Is Unsolved

Chicago (AP)—Railroad management broke off negotiations with 200,000 operating workers Friday over work rules that the employers consider featherbedding, calling for unnecessary jobs.

The unions, made up of engineers, conductors, trainmen, firemen and switchmen, maintain the rules are needed for safe and efficient transportation service.

It was the second time since May 17 that the carriers had broken off talks with labor. Management accused the Union negotiators of stalling efforts to reach a settlement of the dispute.

A statement issued by the railroads said it had become "painfully clear" that the 5 unions had no intention of accepting any part of the recommendations of a special commission appointed to work out an agreement.

Brief Meeting

J. E. Wolfe, chief spokesman for the carriers, informed the union representatives and Leverett Edwards, chairman of the National Mediation Board, who has been sitting in on the negotiations, of the carriers' decision. It was a brief meeting.

"It is obvious that no progress can be made by prolonging the present endeavor," Wolfe said in a statement handed to Edwards and the union chiefs.

The unions issued a statement after the breakdown in which they charged the carriers engaged in "a deliberate irresponsible, determined effort to force a transportation crisis."

Building Owners Are Protected In Air Raids

The Nebraska Civil Defense Agency said Friday a building owner who allows his premises to be used as an air raid shelter has insurance protection against bodily injury and property damage claims under his general liability policy without additional charge.

The civil defense office said it had received that information from the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters.

The protection is also afforded without additional charge under the liability portion of special multi-peril policies.

Jet Crash In Storm Kills 112

... On Caribbean Island Of Guadeloupe

Pointe-a-Pitre, Guadeloupe (AP)—An Air France Boeing 707 jetliner smashed into a hill early Friday after reporting landing gear trouble on its approach to this French Caribbean island in a storm. All 112 persons aboard perished.

The plane's pilot reported to the control tower he was having difficulty getting the landing gear down, officials said, as the plane passed over Raizet Airfield, then disappeared in pre-dawn darkness.

The plane hit the hill, 18 miles from the field, during a raging thunderstorm. It burst into flames after impact. Bodies and wreckage were scattered over a wide area.

A small girl, one of 7 children and 4 babies aboard, still clutched her doll in death.

Contact Lost

It was shortly after 4 a.m. when the plane had started preparations for a landing en route from Paris to Santiago, Chile. The 4-engine plane winged over the field, then started circling to land. It went out over the sea — then

Judicial Meet Draws Praise

Creation of the Nebraska Judicial conference "will strengthen greatly the state's system of law and its administration," Robert A. Leflar said in Lincoln Friday night.

Speaking at the joint dinner meeting of the Nebraska Judicial Council, District Court Judges Ass'n., Lincoln Lancaster County Bar Assn. and County Judges Ass'n., the University of Arkansas law professor congratulated the judges:

"You've started something genuinely worthwhile."

Nebraska has had a 13-member Judicial Council since 1938, but this is the first year that organization of a Judicial Conference has been attempted. Its members will include all state judges, laymen and representatives of law schools and bar associations.

Leflar, a former judge of the Arkansas Supreme Court, said several advantages accrue to a state having a judicial conference.

The court system can "be immeasurably strengthened," he asserted, and the judiciary's position can "be made more influential."

In addition, the Arkansas said, it can "make the practice of law more satisfying."

Saturday's meeting of the Judicial Conference will be highlighted by State Supreme Court Judge Leslie Boslaugh's talk on "The Image of the Good Judge."

Ballots Will Select Ideal All-Staters

More than 400 Nebraska high school students at the University of Nebraska will cast their votes for Ideal All-State Girl and Boy this weekend from among 8 candidates.

The election is one of the traditional highlights of the three-week course which includes study in journalism, art, dramatic art, speech and music.

The girl candidates are Antonia Poulos, Grand Island; Sharon Warboys, Lincoln; Jane Miller, Davenport; Jeanette Coufal, Seward; Kathy Armstrong, Minden; and Ann Kotouc, Humboldt.

The boy candidates are Don Bellows, Grant; and John Kotouc, Humboldt.

In addition to the Candidates, elected from each of the 8 houses, 4 escorts were chosen by popular vote and include Jerry Lee, Kearney; Gary Lamb, Alliance; Dick Packwood, Sterling; and Paul Coble, Mullen.

Of the 400 students from 18 Nebraska towns, 263 students this year are enrolled in music, 72 in speech and dramatic art, 26 in art and 39 in journalism.

Bridgeport Man's Death Accidental

Scottsbluff (AP)—A coroner's jury held Friday that Terry Cobb, 20, of Bridgeport, died of an accidentally inflicted bullet wound when Pete Cordario, 15, fired at a white rat on Cobb's shoulder and the bullet struck Cobb after killing the rat.

The shooting on June 11 occurred at Bridgeport and Cobb died in a Scottsbluff hospital Thursday. Cobb and Cordario were sitting on beds as Cobb played with the rat and Cordario held a stripped down .22 rifle.

Cordario, who said he did not think the gun was loaded, pointed it at the rat and pulled the trigger. The bullet went through the rat's body and hit Cobb in the jaw, then traveled into his throat and finally lodged in his abdomen.

Climbers Are Safe

...In Nepalese Village

Katmandu, Nepal (AP)—An American mountain-climbing team unheard from in the lofty Himalayas since May was found safe but weak Friday in the Nepalese mountain village of Khumjung. The team is headed by a grandson of President Woodrow Wilson.

A U.S. helicopter will take off Saturday morning for the village in the Namche Bazar area, 100 miles east of Katmandu and 13,000 feet up in the Mountains.

Norman Dyrenfurth, a California professor and noted climber, will fly in the helicopter. He is here arranging the first all-American expedition to climb Mt. Everest next year.

The team for whom anxieties were expressed earlier is made up of Woodrow Wilson Sayre, 43, an assistant professor of philosophy at Tufts University, Medford, Mass.; Norman Hanson, 36, a Boston attorney who had climbed Alaska's Mt. McKinley; Roger Alan Hart, 21, a Tufts research student, and Hans Peter Duttler, a school teacher with Swiss citizenship.

The Nepalese foreign ministry said the team lost its way near the Ngojumba glacier.

Nitrogen Overdose On Wheat Pays Off

Stella (AP)—An unintentional overdose of nitrogen fertilizer on his wheat this spring paid off for Edgar Bredmeier.

Coalition On Again

Laos Regime To Be Set Up Saturday

Vientiane, Laos (AP)—Laos' combative leaders Friday smashed and then put together again an agreement on installing a 3-party coalition government.

The latest word of accord came from Prince Souvanna Phouma, the neutralist premier-designate, but he made a mystery of how the latest settlement was reached.

He said details would be disclosed when King Savang Vathana finally has signed the royal decree installing the new regime, which is intended to remove this embattled nation from the cold war arena.

CAB Declines Morrison Visit

Civil Aeronautics Board Chairman Alan S. Boyd sent a telegram to Gov. Frank Morrison Friday stating the board believes it should not discuss Frontier Airline service with the governor while the airline has motions pending before the CAB.

Morrison had sent a telegram to the CAB June 11 requesting an early meeting between board members, himself and the State Department of Aeronautics to discuss Frontier service.

Under its new management, Frontier has requested CAB permission for a one-year extension of service to 5 Nebraska cities — Alliance and Chadron on the north-south route, and Hastings, Kearney and McCook on the southern route.

Officers Seek Pen Escapee

Law enforcement officers were searching early Saturday morning for a 35-year-old escapee who walked away from the State Penitentiary's West Farm about 10 p.m. Friday.

The escapee was identified as Delone Kuhn of Omaha, who was sentenced in November of 1959 to 5 years for debauching a minor.

Penitentiary officials said Kuhn was present when a check was made shortly before 10 p.m., but when the check was made at 10 he was gone.

He was described as a white male, 5-foot-9, 151 pounds, with brown eyes and brown hair. He was wearing a blue shirt and blue trousers.

Dr. Vietty Is Being Forced To Aid Reds

Saigon, Vietnam (UPI)—An American woman missionary doctor who was kidnapped by the Viet Cong May 30 is being forced to treat wounded communist guerrillas and train their medics, it was learned Friday.

Dr. Eleanor Ardel Vietty, of Houston, Tex., is being held in the mountainous country north of here along with the Rev. Archie E. Mitchell, Ellensburg, Wash., and Daniel Gerber, Kidron, O. The Rev. Mr. Mitchell is a native of Franklin, Neb.

The 3 Americans were kidnapped at bayonet point from a missionary leprosarium near the mountain town of Ban Me Thout, 200 miles north of here.

Captured Viet Cong prisoners and defectors furnished the information which American sources consider "highly reliable." They said all 3 Americans were alive and well.

However, they were said to have been subjected to moving constantly with the Viet Cong through rugged jungle country, apparently to prevent their being rescued by Vietnamese rangers searching for them.

The Americans were being held in caves much of the time, the sources said. The guerrillas were said to have large numbers of wounded on their hands for Dr. Vietty to treat. The other two Americans have no medical training.

The source said Dr. Vietty may be performing surgery. Vietnamese forces attempting to rescue the 3 Americans are using extreme caution to avoid causing the Viet Cong to kill their captives in panic, the sources said.

5305 "O" STREET—OPEN ALL YEAR

Lincoln Shows Increase Of Burglaries, Thefts In June

The Lincoln Police Department has noted an increase in burglaries and thefts in Lincoln residential areas during the first 3 weeks of June.

Approximately 15 residential thefts involving losses exceeding $40 have been reported since June 9th, and two Lincoln cafes have been burglarized this week.

Most losses have been in stolen bills and coins, often taken from billfolds, police said. Other thefts include miscellaneous items taken from homes, service stations, and workshops during the early evening hours.

Detective Capt. Robert J. Sawdon warned of two major causes of what he described as "a definite increase in residential burglaries this time of year."

Lock Doors
Sawdon said, "The Police Department strongly urges people working in their yards, especially in the evening, to lock and secure all doors not well in view."

"We have had cases," he said, "of professional burglars who capitalize on nonchalant unseen entrances to homes when the family is outside. The house is then hurriedly ransacked, and the thieves leave quietly undetected."

Sawdon also noted that a house conspicuously marked as "on vacation" by accumulating newspapers and milk bottles is an invitation to burglars. He urged that families going on vacations follow these precautionary steps:

- (1) Lock the house securely.
- (2) Stop all deliveries until returning.
- (3) Leave a small light on inside the house.
- (4) Ask neighbors to occasionally check on the house.
- (5) Notify the police department upon departure so that officers may regularly check the residence.

Rather, Check
"The police force," said Sawdon, "would much rather check a family's house periodically during vacation periods, than investigate a burglary later."

Regarding business establishments, Sawdon noted that the highest rate of burglary and theft occurred during the winter months because of unemployment due to inclement weather.

"However," said Sawdon, "no business is immune to the possibility of attempted burglary at any time, and the best precaution against nighttime theft is a well-lighted area."

EUB Ministerial Assignments Told As Annual Meet Closes

Kearney (P)—The Nebraska Conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church announced ministerial field assignments Friday for the coming year, including assignment of two newly ordained ministers and 3 students.

The conference wound up its business sessions Friday. Assignments include:

- Wendell Davis, from Holstein to Hoskins and Norfolk.
- Y. P. Schroeder, from Ralston to Lincoln Calvary.
- Lowell B. Johnson, from Lamar to Milford.
- Guy M. Savage, from Scotia to Monroe and Oak.
- Alvin Smith, from Cambridge to Orchard.
- Robert L. Folkers, from Seward to Ralston.
- Wayne Schreurs, from Norfolk to Seward.
- Robert Nebel, student to Vermillion and Pleasant Hill.
- Eldo Kirkus, newly ordained to Lamar, Chase and Crete.
- Leon Davidson, from Rowland to Shelton, Bethel and Simmerman.
- Holstein will be supplied by the Presbyterian Synod.

The conference named delegates to the general conference in Grand Rapids, Mich., this fall, heard greetings from Dr. R. L. Townsend of Kearney, a district superintendent of the Methodist Church, and made plans to open a new mission in the Southgate addition of Lincoln, 36th and Pioneer.

New Pastor Named For Calvary EUB

The Rev. Vernon P. Schroeder of Ralston has been appointed by the Nebraska Conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church to serve the Calvary EUB Church in Lincoln.

The Rev. Mr. Schroeder will be replacing the Rev. Donald R. Roker, who was appointed district superintendent of the western district with headquarters at Kearney.

The Schroeders have been living in Ralston for the past 9 years where the Rev. Mr. Schroeder has been serving the EUB Church which he started there as a mission congregation and which has just become financially independent.

A graduate of Westmar College, LeMars, Iowa, the Rev. Mr. Schroeder studied at the Evangelical Theological Seminary in Naperville, Ill.

At the conference it was also decided to begin work immediately on a mission church to be built at 36th & Pioneer in Southgate Heights. A committee composed of the 3 pastors and laymen from the existing EUB churches along with the district superintendent was appointed to begin plans for the development of the mission.

Mrs. Spence, 75, '47 State Mother Of Year, Is Dead

Beatrice — Mrs. Harriet Swan Spence, 75, Nebraska's Mother of the Year in 1947, died Friday.

Mrs. Spence was well known as a dramatic reader, actress and director. She had published poems and songs and won several awards with her paintings and drawings.

Mrs. Spence

Her best known song is "Nebraska's Glad Refrain," which is being considered for the Nebraska state song. Her writings include an hour and a half long drama on the life of Abe Lincoln and a book of poems, "Gift from my Heart."

In addition to her artistic achievements, she was engaged in many civic and religious activities.

She was a member of the Centenary Methodist Church, the Beatrice Federated Woman's Club, Colonial Dames of the 17th Century, D.A.R., National Society of Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America, the Nebraska Legislative Ladies League, Ars Poetica, the Midwest Federation of Chaparral Poets (of which she was appointed Poet Laureate in 1949) the Lincoln Artists Guild, and the American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Spence moved to Nebraska from her native Illinois at the age of 5. In 1952 she moved from Crab Orchard to Beatrice.

She is survived by her husband, Leslie D., a former Nebraska legislator; sons, Robin A. of Beatrice, the Rev. Willard M. of Rhineland, Wis., and the Rev. William M. of Lakewood, Colo.; 5 brothers; one sister; 11 grandchildren; and 3 great-grandchildren.

Gering-Laramie Contract Okayed

Washington (P)—The Senate Interior Committee approved a $2,000,000 contract for the Gering-Fort Laramie Irrigation District in Nebraska.

Under the contract, which becomes effective because neither the House nor the Senate Interior Committees disapproved, farmers will repay federal construction costs for project rehabilitation and improvements.

GOP Seeking Hotter Criticisms Of Freeman

Washington (P)—Republicans sought Friday to build hotter critical fires under Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman for his examination of department correspondence with two GOP senators. But the White House backed the cabinet member.

The fuss started Thursday when Sens. Karl S. Mundt of South Dakota and Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska held a news conference to tell reporters of the department's compilation of their letters. They called it an effort by Freeman to intimidate them in advance of Senate hearings on the Billie Sol Estes case.

The Senate permanent investigations subcommittee begins hearings next Wednesday.

Fair Dates Set

Seward (P)—The 1962 Seward County Fair will be held August 13-15. It will include a rodeo supplied by a Blunt, S.D., company.

Mundt invited President Kennedy to speak out on what Mundt called an attempt by Freeman to thwart the Estes investigation. But White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen the President would have no comment and added:

"I think the secretary of agriculture answered adequately."

Freeman drew similar backing from Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the Senate majority leader, who made this comment:

"I have every confidence in the integrity of Secretary Freeman, who has performed outstandingly in his present, most difficult, position and whose explanation I accept wholeheartedly."

But if Mundt and Curtis could stir no support among Democrats, they got enthusiastic backing from fellow Republicans, including Sen.

Bowles Sells Foreign Policy

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It has been a long time since Lincoln has heard a public official of the stripe of Chester Bowles. As a former wartime head of the Office of Price Administration, as a governor of Connecticut, as ambassador to India under former President Harry Truman and in several positions during the still young administration of President Kennedy, Mr. Bowles has not endeared himself to all people.

But he is considered a salesman, a man of knowledge and to be possessed of a likeable personality. For his Lincoln appearance, he displayed nothing but his assets. Not all of those who heard him in a one-day session at the University of Nebraska went away convinced that the country's foreign policy was the finest it could be. But he held his audiences at full attention, he gained their respect and there is no doubt that he broadened their understanding. In calm and reasoned terms that all could understand, he explained the details of specific foreign problems and the broad principles on which current policy is based.

The key to these principles was to be found in the comparison he drew at a crowded noon luncheon — a comparison between what he called rigidity and maximum maneuverability. Within these two positions, he said, are found 90 per cent of the American people. He made a case for maximum maneuverability — a case for current foreign policy and it was a convincing case.

The special advisor to the President on African, Asian and Latin American affairs did not launch into a long-winded parade of vague theories. He struck at the heart of the matter with examples that are today the center of much controversy—Yugoslavia and India. What he didn't say was that maximum maneuverability as shown through these two countries is a complete answer to critics who claim we have a "no win" policy.

The idea of these critics is that we are not on the offensive, that we are not ambitiously spreading the gospel of freedom and that we just want to live side by side with communism, not defeat it. They are the same people who would be found in the maximum rigidity camp. They believe that we must stand firm and uncompromising against communism wherever and however it is found. If it is found only by way of disagreement with the West, then we still must violently oppose it. What they say in effect is that anyone who does not see eye to eye with us 100 per cent of the time is our enemy and we have no business helping them.

Under maximum maneuverability, we seek to capitalize upon the weaknesses of the communist empire. With this policy we are free to enter the back yard of communism and exploit its failures and its cleavages. We are free to take advantage of that which serves our purpose and to discard that which is not to our liking. This is what we have done in Yugoslavia, under two Democratic and one Republican presidents. It is what we have done in India and it has been opposed because it has not been properly understood by the American people. It is not retreat nor appeasement nor softness toward communism; it is a frontal attack upon the enemy. By helping Tito, we help Yugoslavia maintain the breach she established between herself and Russia.

We help her to increase her trade with the West, trade which today constitutes 70 per cent of all that she does. We encourage her to engage in more such efforts as the establishment of peasants' rights to own farms, of private industrial development and other reversals of communist dogma. These things she has done.

The record cited by Ambassador Bowles shows that Yugoslavia, also, has opposed the USSR in the U.N. on the question of a single secretary general versus the so-called Troika, on the financing of U.N. forces in the Congo and on the explosion of the 50-megaton H-bomb last October. Can we call Yugoslavia a U.S. ally or a satellite? No, but by our actions we have made her a very weak link in the communist chain.

Would it have been better to abandon her for the percentage of disagreement we hold with her and thus lose the benefit of her split with Russia? Should we have said we don't want a 15, 20, 30 or 40 per cent gain because we can't have 100 per cent? We doubt that a majority of people so believe. And what about India? It is a nation of 450 million people in direct competition with the communist system of China. Through the process of a democracy, she is trying to prove that freedom is the key to prosperity and a full and rewarding life. Do we contribute to a denial of this assertion simply because India is not always on our side of the fence?

Even our 50 United States are not always in 100 per cent agreement so how can we expect that two nations with widely different problems and cultures would always find themselves in absolute harmony? What is it we seek to foster, freedom or a parroting of ourselves? With maneuverability we can take advantage of every opening as the contest progresses. With rigidity we cannot move until the other team has completely left the field. And if we don't move, they wouldn't leave until victory was in their grasp.

Farm Picture Confused

Defeat by the House of the administration's proposed new farm program throws the agricultural picture into a state of confusion and uncertainty. This is because the administration plan was a major break from the past where the conflict between production potential and market demand has never been realistically faced.

The administration program failed, of course, because of its drastic nature. It pulled no punches as it demanded strict compliance and production limitation for support prices. But it would have brought production into balance with consumption, even though it would have done this through considerable regimentation.

Republican opponents of the bill have said that the only loser in the defeat was the power-hungry Department of Agriculture.

District Keeps Its Word

When the voters are given to understand something in advance of a decision by them at the polls, it is incumbent upon the governmental unit involved to perform as promised. Voters were told when they approved the establishment of the Salt-Wahoo Watershed District that the Sanitary District, with its 1 mill levy taxing power, would be dissolved.

It has taken some time to get this job done but the mechanics of the dissolution were not simple. A contract has been signed, however, between the Sanitary District, Salt-Wahoo and the city which calls for the district to go out of business Sept. 1. The city will assume sanitary sewer and storm drainage responsibilities now held by the district inside the city and Salt-Wahoo will assume those duties outside the city.

This is far from a fact. Unless some other legislation is passed, the losers will be the American farmers and the American people as they will have to wrestle with impossibility of matching output without controls with the market demand.

The federal government cannot go on paying support prices that assure the farmer a living while at the same time permitting the farmer to grow more than the nation can consume. This can result in nothing but mounting surpluses and rising government costs. Yet, the only alternative as the situation stands now is to take the government completely out of the program and this would ruin hundreds of thousands of farmers. It is hoped that Congress does not settle for the impasse it has reached with defeat of the administration plan.

The purpose of the district's existence was to meet sanitary sewer and storm drainage demands and these have declined none with dissolution of the agency. We will realize greater efficiency with two rather than three agencies working in these fields but the task itself is no less than it has ever been. Lincoln will be hard pressed to stay up with sanitary sewer demands and will need voter support to do so.

Birchites Becoming Problem For Nixon

SACRAMENTO — The truth is that Nixon was pressured into running for governor of California against his better judgment. Close friends say he would much rather have waited to run for the Senate against Democrat Clair Engle in 1964, which probably would have been an easy race and would have given him a national sounding board for another four years before taking another crack at the presidency in 1968.

But the hardboiled dominators of the Republican party — Bill Miller, the GOP chairman; Barry Goldwater, who has an eye on the White House himself; and Ev Dirksen, the elder statesman from Illinois — told him he had to prove his vote-getting ability on his own, and in his home state, right away.

That was why Dick got into the California race against an able Democratic governor, Pat Brown, who has made a good record and has a 1,000,000 Democratic registration edge in his favor.

So you can understand why Nixon is listless, is going to Europe in July against the advice of political handlers.

The big political problem for Dick Nixon is going to be right inside his own Republican party — namely, the John Birch Society. Nixon took a forthright stand on the John Birchites during his primary race for governor, but it cost him some right-wing votes. And since then his GOP opponent, Joe Shell, has been very sticky about lining up with Nixon for the November finals.

Sometime before those finals, Nixon will be forced to come out one way or the other regarding three Birchite congressmen running on the Republican ticket. California always did go in for political phenomena, and this is more John Birchites running for Congress than in any other state in the Union.

Some of them have been extremely vocal and devoted followers of Welch and John Birch, especially Rep. John Roussell, who is running for re-election in Nixon's old district. Opposing him is a very up-and-coming Democrat, Ronald Brooks Cameron of Whittier, Nixon's home town, who has a good chance of beating him.

The other John Birch congressman is Edgar Hiestand of the 27th District, who is opposed by Everett G. Burkhalter, a Los Angeles city councilman with a good record. This will be another hot fight in which Nixon will have to stand up and be counted.

H. L. Richardson, another John Birchite, is running in a new district, the 29th, against George E. Brown, Jr., a Democratic assemblyman, who will probably win.

All this adds up to trouble for Nixon. He will have to take a stand one way or the other on a segment of his own party which has battled against him in the past.

GOP Dragging Out Its Favorite Issue

WASHINGTON — The "soft-on-communism" issue has an attraction for Republicans which may ebb between seasons but never quite ceases to flow. Around election time their addiction to it becomes positively compulsive.

President Kennedy is aware of this situation and not unkind of the fact that the technique has sometimes proved effective. Like a careful father dealing with an alcoholic son, he has tried hard to put all the familiar brand bottles out of sight, and on the whole he has succeeded.

The prevailing congressional leadership of the GOP remains convinced that there is more of the genuine Old Bushhead around somewhere in even the most careful Democratic administration and that he who seeks will find it. This spring a collection of policy explorations called "The Liberal Papers" seemed to offer a promising brew. In its inception, the writers were more or less sponsored by a small group of House liberals, and Rep. James Roosevelt wrote the introduction to the printed version.

Even as a battle cry for party rallies here, the connection to the Kennedy administration seemed a trifle remote. But now the thirsty leaders have, they think, uncovered something more promising.

Walt Rostow, State Department counselor and chairman of the policy planning staff, has in truth and in fact supervised the drafting of a high-level policy paper. It mentions that changes are taking place in the world and suggests ways for the United States to capitalize on them.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, a candidate for re-election this fall, is suitably alarmed, though presumably he has not read the paper, which is classified. He has demanded a Foreign Relations Committee review and questioning of Rostow, who is one of the President's favorite deep-thinkers.

House Democrats, so long resolutely blind to the plain anarchy of the farm program, have shown flashes of style on a farm bill geared to the political realities of 1962. Apparently they feel that the voters have really had enough of this particular waste of the national substance: what is equally compelling is the plain fact that Democratic control of Congress hinges upon the big, population-gaining states where the voters appear restless.

Nothing proposed in Congress seems to appeal to its Republican leaders as likely to help them, too. How far they can get with Professor Rostow as a positive menace is doubtful, but the hunt goes on.

Even so attractive a new-look Republican as Rep. William Scranton of Scranton, Pa., was tempted by the soft-on-communism issue. In his race for governor, he has reminded the voters that Richardson Dilworth, his Democratic opponent, favored recognition of Red China in 1958.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Analogy Between 1787, 1962

WASHINGTON — For a President keenly conscious of the American past, the significance of the anniversary could have been the final persuader in getting him to consent to address the nation's governors in Independence Hall in Philadelphia on July 4.

Senator Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, one of the active persuaders, gave Mr. Kennedy a memorandum pointing out the relevance to the nation and the world today of what was taking place in that same hall 175 years ago. Delegates from the 13 states were meeting to adopt a new Constitution. The Articles of Confederation had proved hopelessly inadequate as each sovereign state had declined to support a central government which was all but powerless.

The analogy with the attempt today to establish an effective world organization is striking, as Clark noted in his memorandum. Similarly within the Atlantic Alliance and even in the European Common Market, the debate between the federalists and the advocates of a loose union of independent states is in the headlines in one form or another day after day.

Under the Articles of Confederation and Perpetual Union, as they were known, the states could be asked to contribute to the cost of the central government, including the cost of national defense, but they were not bound to respond. In the four years ending in 1786, requisitions on the states had totaled $10,000,000 and only about one-fourth of this amount was forthcoming.

Similarly, as Clark noted, the United Nations today can levy on individual nations which are members, but they are not compelled to comply. Because the U.N.'s peace-keeping function in the Congo and in Suez conflicts with the ambitions of certain member-states, they have declined to pay their share of the cost. This is one reason for the request of the administration to Congress for approval of the purchase of $100,000,000 in U.N. bonds.

Amendments to strengthen the Articles of Confederation could be blocked by the opposition of a single state. Amendments to the U.N. Charter can be stopped to-day by the adverse vote of one permanent member of the Security Council.

The delegates to the Constitutional Convention in 1787 included most of the great men who had framed the Declaration of Independence and had been in the forefront of the revolution. Virginia sent Washington, Madison, Edmund Randolph, George Mason and George Wythe. Three state governors were present, among them Benjamin Franklin, president of the Pennsylvania Executive Council, as it was called. The wise Franklin, in a letter the following year to Pierre-Samuel Dupont de Nemours as the Constitution was being ratified by the states, wrote words that could apply to the conflict over world organization today:

"But we must not expect that a new government may be formed, as a game of chess may be played, by a skillful hand, without a fault. The players of our game are so many, their ideas so different, their prejudices so strong and so various, and their particular interests, independent of the general, seeming so opposite, that not a move can be made that is not contested: the numerous objections confound the understanding; the wisest must agree to some unreasonable things, that reasonable ones of more consequence may be obtained."

concern for statecraft and the philosophy that underlies it. But with most of the 50 governors seated before him, he is likely to be tempted by another theme that can be traced back to the Constitutional Convention of nearly two centuries ago.

That is the question of big states versus small states—urban versus rural populations — and the division of powers between legislative and executive. In state after state, as often in the national government, one branch is held by one party and the other branch by the opposition and the result is virtual stalemate. This issue becomes acute when the legislature, as in many states, is dominated by rural legislators who veto everything the big city wants and needs. That has come to a head in the Supreme Court decision on reapportionment ordering a fairer allocation of the legislative districts in accord with the population.

So the President and his speech writers can have a field day in that setting and with that audience. There is a hushed awareness — half ironic but nevertheless real — of what a responsibility it is to speak in the hallowed precincts where the founding fathers hammered out the charter of government and on such an anniversary. The speech, which could be a notable state paper, comes as the climax of the Governors' Conference at Hershey, Pennsylvania.

The President feels that it was in large part due to Boss Bill Green of Philadelphia that he clinched the nomination in Los Angeles two years ago, and Green then helped to deliver one of the most sizable majorities of any state for the Kennedy ticket. But he was chosen to return to Philadelphia not to a huckstering $100 a plate dinner but for a great historic occasion.

Street Sales

Lincoln, Neb. For the past week on my way back to work, I've been stopped by salesmen. They have all been clean appearing young men who said they were working their way through college. This is all fine, but it is necessary for them to stop people on the streets and sell their products?

I felt awfully rude walking away from these young men, but I am getting very tired of this stopping on the street business and trying to make a sales pitch.

Maybe I'm old-fashioned, but I think the door-to-door salesmen are bad enough. We don't need them stopping us on the streets, too.

Is there or isn't there a law that states it is unlawful to have or participate in sidewalk selling such as this?

DISGUSTED

The Breakdown

Lincoln, Neb. A recent numerical tally of 33 university resignations was reported by The Star, a tally which has certainly gone higher in the past weeks. Several professors have resigned while offering some good constructive criticisms, although our governor has chosen to call these suggestions "angry blasts." One of our state senators even went so far as to commend those remaining for their willingness to "stay here and roll up their sleeves and go to work."

This unrealistic attitude seems to convey the impression that academicians are different from other people; their shield of cap and gown is supposed to make them willing to be sustained merely by the "rewards of teaching" while remaining impervious to desire for higher salaries. Professors are no different from anyone else when it comes to wanting an improved standard of living for themselves and their families.

I would like to see The Star break down their numerical tally so that we could see how many resignations are from the College of Arts and Sciences, how many from the university administration, how many from the Ag campus, etc. My guess would be that almost all are from that highly de-emphasized segment of Arts and Sciences and almost none from the administration. Operating under my above premise that everyone is human (professors included) in wanting to better himself financially, this concentration of resignations in one segment would indicate that salaries in the other segments must be on a much higher scale.

I foresee nothing but a continued outflow until the proper emphasis can be placed on the teachers. Much higher values need to be attributed to them and they should be able to command rewards for their efforts. Our fate lies with the teachers, not the administrators, and teachers cannot do their job forever merely by "rolling up their sleeves."

CURIOUS

Economic Plan

Lake Worth, Fla. Your editorial of June 12, "Tax Cut No Final Answer," should be reprinted across the land as the editorial of the year to do justice to its importance.

For money is the flowing system of waterways on which our economic barges float, loaded with the products of our soil and toil and ingenuity. The barges move against the monetary current and now and then there occurs a congestion and slowing down or cessation of movement.

The jam may be caused by too many overloaded barges at a certain point or too little monetary water. Again, the jam may cause the water to back up and collect in stagnant pools, complicating the situation further. But at any rate, a continuous uninterrupted movement of both monetary water and economic barges is what constitutes prosperity.

What is needed is some means of keeping the monetary waterways and product barges in free-moving operation for all time to come. It would seem that nuclear and space-trained scientists might possibly come up with the answer in the form of some very rare, desirable and difficult to acquire new substance. The federal government could control the making and use as a supplement to the gold standard for printing new money when desirable to regulate the monetary flow and the movement of economic barges.

Overloads at congested points could also be purchased with issues of new money and stored in the frozen Arctics for the use of future generations when the earth becomes as densely populated as scientists predict. The eliminating or levying of federal taxes could also act as an economic regulator.

A Judge Convicted

(From The Washington Post)

Improper conduct by a judge is always depressing as a matter of wrongdoing by itself and as a reflection on the integrity of the judiciary. The verdict in New York that Justice J. Vincent Keogh of that state's Supreme Court is guilty of conspiring to fix a federal court sentence is no exception. Justice Keogh and Elliott Kahaner, a former assistant United States attorney, were convicted of accepting $35,- 000 from Antonio (Ducks) Corallo for trying to influence Federal Judge Leo F. Rayfiel to impose only a light sentence on Sanford J. Moore, a jukebox operator who had pleaded guilty in Judge Rayfiel's court.

Justice Keogh still insists that he is innocent and attributes his conviction to the testimony of "confessed thieves and lairs." But he admitted on the witness stand that he had discussed the Moore case with Judge Rayfiel as they lunched together. Both denied that there was any impropriety in this, but when Justice Keogh's interest in the jukebox operator is linked with the $22,500 that he is said to have received for his intervention, the criminality of his conduct is apparent.

The most damning testimony came from Moore and Dr. Erdman who confessed they had been part of a conspiracy to tamper with the process of justice. Both had been indicted with Justice Keogh and the other two who have now been convicted, but Moore and Dr. Erdman were granted separate trials after they agreed to co-operate with the government in the Keogh case.

Painful though this case has been to the judicial system, it reflects a good deal of credit upon those who have worked to expose corruption on the bench. The courts need to be ever vigilant, not only in meting out even-handed justice to others, but also in holding the judicial system itself to strict standards of performance.

Even Monotonous Jobs Are Missed By The Retired

By ROBERT PETERSON
Q. "You're always praising old actors, writers, and painters who turn their backs on retirement and continue working at their glamorous professions. But what about those of us in such drab jobs as assembly line workers and retail clerks. Don't you agree that early retirement is the best thing that could happen to us?"
A. Maybe — if you really dislike your work. But many people who retire eagerly from what they consider drab occupations find after a few months of leisure that they keenly miss the purposeful work, the camaraderie, and the weekly paycheck which their job provided. The best bet for folks in unrewarding careers is to retire TO a new occupation which will occupy their time and offer an opportunity to use creative talents.

Q. "Just how much does adequate medical care really cost a retired couple these days?"
A. It ranges from $366 a year in the Los Angeles area, to a low of about $222 in the Scranton, Pa., area, with other communities lying somewhere between these two extremes, according to a recent report from the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. The figures cited are averages, which means that some elders have little or no medical expenses while others incur heavy and serious costs.
Q. "The other day I found my 13-year-old granddaughter in tears. When I asked what was wrong she said,

"I'm sad because someday I'll be as old as you are." I wasted no time telling her that anyone who reaches 75 is darned lucky and that even if I could I wouldn't turn back the clock and return to the terrible teens. Who's responsible for all the foolish notions kids pick up about the horrors of growing old?"
A. Some of these notions stem from children's books in which the heroes are youthful and the villains are old witches and misers. Others stem from the penchant of advertisers in stressing youthfulness. I think your response to your granddaughter was admirable — we need more elders who will shout the praises of maturity.
Q. "I'm sick and tired of sitting at home. And I'd hop in my car and take a cross-country sightseeing jaunt if I could find two or three congenial retirees to accompany me and help with expenses. Can you help me scout up some companions to go along?"

A. You can scout them up yourself by putting an ad in your local paper, posting notices about your proposed trip in local clubs for retirees, or canvassing the elder members of your church or fraternal organizations.
Q. "You said in a column the other day that older people are headed toward political power. I'd like to ask when—in 2000 A.D.? I'm 68 myself and few of the seniors I know can tear themselves away from shuffleboard and television long enough to think about politics. Last week I phoned three dozen old-timers urging them to attend a rally on health care for the aged and only six showed up."

A. Many older people are apathetic. But one of these days they will awaken to the significance of their mass vote. Since those past 65 constitute nearly ten percent of the population, political economists believe it's just a matter of time until a large percentage of them are organized into a forceful political bloc.
If you would like a booklet "65 Ways to Find More Fun in Retirement" write to this column c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ten cents to cover handling costs.

All-Staters To Publish Newspaper

The first journalism sequence of All-State at the University of Nebraska will feature 3 issues of a small newspaper. The All-State Pillar.
The name was selected by vote of the first 29 high school students to take part in the program.
The editors of the three editions are Ann McGuire, Columbus, Robert Zucker of Scribner and Jerry Craighead of Scottsbluff.
Dr. Robert Cranford, professor of journalism at the University, and director of the journalism sequence, said the little paper will become part of the training of the students at All-State each year.
Classes in newspaper history, with emphasis on journalism's contribution to freedom, democracy and government will be made in the classwork, Dr. Cranford said.

"We want the newspaper to be a reflection of the youngsters' ideas and interests," he said.

Activity In The Service Circles

BY TISSIE LINSCHIED

Maj. and Mrs. Russell M. Heller are entertaining this evening with a canape party at their Wilkins Terrace residence. The party is in honor of Capt. and Mrs. John Gieker who arrived Thursday from Montgomery, Ala. where the Captain has been attending Air Command and Staff College for the past year. The Giekers, formerly stationed at LAFB, returned to renew old acquaintances before reporting for their new assignment in Madrid, Spain. Invited guests to bid Capt. and Mrs. Gieker a hasty "hello" and Bon Voyage are Col. and Mrs. William E. Miller, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Gerald Linscheid, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Harold C. Morrison, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Hale Dodge, Lt. Col. and Mrs. James M. Pumphord, Maj. and Mrs. Sherman D. Martin, Maj. and Mrs. Raymond J. Wagner, Capt. and Mrs. Richard W. McKenzie, Capt. and Mrs. Stanley States, Capt. and Mrs. Richard D. Coon, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Dietrick, of Denver, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Burns. The party will progress to the Officers Club for dinner and dancing.

A farewell canape party will be held this evening in the Green Room of the Officers Club. Guests of honor for the occasion will be Lt. Col. and Mrs. Vincent A. Collins, Maj. and Mrs. Robert Taylor, Capt. and Mrs. Frederick D. Inderbitzen, Capt. and Mrs. William Boede. Thirty guests are invited to the party which will be hosted by the officer's fellow workers.

The 551st Missile Squadron has a good time in store for the Officers and Airmen of the organization and their families. Tomorrow they will enjoy a good old-fashioned picnic at Bolling Lake Lodge. Among the festivities will be boating, water skiing and games for the young and "old" alike.

Mrs. Pete Revello and her new son, Christopher, were surprised Friday evening when 30 unexpected guests arrived at her home bearing gifts and refreshments, and a hearty welcome to the new heir. The surprise baby shower was hosted by Mrs. John B. Mattioli, Mrs. Gerald Loughlin and Mrs. Frank Ott.

The 372nd Bomb Squadron officers wives enjoyed a delightful luncheon Tuesday at Tillman's Cafe. Mrs. Patrick J. Ness was presented a farewell bracelet and silver disc and Mrs. Robert Hansen, the new Squadron Commander's wife was introduced to the group. Recipients of the various prizes were Mrs. Lynn Johnson, Mrs. Oliver M. Hinde, Mrs. Odis G. Wehrly, Mrs. John D. Radike. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Ralph Utech, Mrs. Carol Goza, Mrs. James A. Forgas and Mrs. Jerald Eustace.

Capt. and Mrs. Robert K. McIntyre entertained last Sunday afternoon with a canape party. The affair was in honor of Mrs. McIntyre's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Bigler of Drexel Hills, Pa.

Autumn Bride-Elect

MISS SHIRLEY TRACY

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Tracy of the engagement of their daughter, Shirley, to James E. Yanak of Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Yanak of Louisville.

A September wedding is planned.

Miss Tracy was graduated from the National Business Institute.

The Lincoln Great Books organization has opened a summer series of reading and discussions to be held at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evenings for six weeks.

The series opened last Tuesday evening at the South Branch Library. Next Tuesday, the discussion topic will be Mark Twain's "Puddin' Head Wilson."

rocket meet with the Air National Guard.

Capt. and Mrs. Stanley States also have houseguests this weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Burns and their three children arrived yesterday from Greeley, Colo.

Col. and Mrs. James T. Gribble returned Friday from a wonderful two weeks spent in Colorado Springs, Colo., Las Vegas, Nev. and Palm Springs, Calif. They are now entertaining their houseguests, Mrs. Kent Buckingham and her two children, Kenia and Kent of Colorado Springs.

Mrs. Kathryn Harding hosted a luncheon Thursday at the Inter Com Club. Invited guests included Mrs. James T. Gribble, Mrs. Walter F. Duch, Mrs. Edward Denton, Mrs. Kent Buckingham, Mrs. Gerald Linscheid, Mrs. Warren Francioni, Mrs. Patrick J. Ness and Mrs. Stephen Mattick.

Capt. and Mrs. J. B. Taylor and their two nephews, George and John Kyne departed Lincoln yesterday morning for Oklahoma. After a visit with friends in Stillwater they will spend the rest of the time "camping out." They will be gone a week.

The OWC will have their monthly Newcomers coffee Wednesday morning at the Officers Club at 10 o'clock. A summertime theme will be carried out, and the dress very casual. Mrs. Lee J. Craft and her committee of two (the others are all on vacation) have a delicious menu planned that will con-

Installation

The annual "Blue And Gold" installation dinner of the Soroptimist Club of Lincoln will be held next Wednesday evening at the Hotel Cornhusker with Miss Anna M. Evans presiding as toastmistress.

Following the dinner, a candlelight service and program will be presented by Mrs. Kathryn G. Hurst, Miss Clare L. Smith, Mrs. Oliver T. Joh, Mrs. C. M. Stewart, Miss Selma B. Anderson, Mrs. Meda M. Knapp, Mrs. Ernest L. Ruhter and Mrs. Margaret M. Davis.

The installation service will be conducted by Mrs. Stewart, with musical accompaniment presented by Mrs. Jo Jensen Bonebright, pianist.

Officers to be installed are Mrs. Davis, president; Dr. Ellen Moorhead Ball, vice president; Mrs. Forest Wilson, recording secretary; Mrs. Shirley L. Michael, corresponding secretary; Miss Grace C. A. Petersen, treasurer; and directors, Mrs. Jo Jensen Bonebright, Miss Martha M. Bichel and Mrs. John P. Ryan.

In charge of dinner arrangements are Mrs. Fred J. Kupert and Miss Marjorie Helen French, and table decorations and flowers will be arranged by Mrs. Knapp and Mrs. Ryan.

Wedding Date
Is Announced

A summer bride-elect who has chosen July for her wedding is Miss Robin Thimgan, who has announced that her marriage to Robert Hohn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hohn of Beatrice, will be an event of Sunday, July 22.

The ceremony will be solemnized at 7 o'clock in the evening at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Episcopal.

sist of ham and pineapple shishkabob, tomato juice and petite sweet rolls, and of course, tea and coffee.

All officers wives are cordially invited to welcome the Newcomers to LAFB.

The 371st Bomb Squadron officers wives had a swimming party Thursday at the O Club pool. The ladies all brought a toy for the needy family they have recently adopted. Prizes were received by Mrs. William Schwob, Mrs. James Kent, Mrs. Paul Pudwell, Mrs. Robert Weidner and Mrs. Ronald Beckett. Hostesses for the afternoon party that also included a watermelon "feed" were Mrs. George J. Biggs, Mrs. Lawrence Arundel, Mrs. Woodrow Fail and Mrs. Alfred Merrell.

Miss Kathy Kent, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. James L. Kent, will celebrate her eighth birthday today with a luncheon at her Castle Terrace residence for a group of her friends. The party will then progress to the O Club swimming pool for the remainder of the afternoon and birthday cake, with all the trimmings, will be served. The best present that Kathy will receive will be the arrival of her dad from Spain.

Board To Meet

The state board of directors of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs will meet July 5 and 6, at the Ft. Kearney Hotel in Kearney to make plans for the organization's program and projects for the next two years.

High on the list of the federation's state-wide projects is the determination to promote Nebraska tourism by means of creating interest in the state's individual communities, by assisting in restoring historical sites, and by working for uniform directional signs on state highways.

The federation also plans to stress the importance of qualified leadership given willingly by club members, and to promote educational programs for the public schools on alcoholism.

Mrs. George W. Mechling of Lincoln, state president, will preside at the two-day meeting.

Others attending from Lincoln and the area will be Mrs. Don Kolterman, Sewared, director of juniors; Mrs. Calvin Sterns, Raymond, First District president; Mrs. Carroll Eberspacher, Milford, chairman of crafts; and from Lincoln, Mrs. Ray C. Johnson, chairman of the educational committee; Mrs. Guilford Abbott, historian; Mrs. Glenn Mooberry, press and publicity; and Mrs. C. M. Stewart, editor of The Clubwoman.

Suburbia Always Has Fun

BISHOP HEIGHTS

Summer vacation was really off to a good start for some of the teen-agers in Bishop Heights last week when Ronald Plachy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Plachy, entertained 20 of his school friends at a patio dance, June 15. Guests were invited from 7 o'clock until 11 o'clock and of course refreshments were served during the evening.

COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

Country Club Terrace is welcoming a brand new resident, and some returning vacationers.

The new resident is Douglas Martin Barlow, who was born June 5, to Mr. and Mrs. George Barlow, Jr. Douglas, also, has an older brother, Scott, who is three.

And back from New Ulm, Minn., where they attended the graduation of their niece, from Martin Luther College, are Mr. and Mrs. Lyle L. Weishahn. They left June 3, and also visited in Rochester, before returning June 7.

While their parents were away the young members of the family remained at home with Mrs. Weishahn's mother, Mrs. Esther Boehler.

On Saturday, June 30, Mrs. William J. Seiboldt will be leaving, by plane, for Mackinac Island, Mich., where she will attend the National Convention of Delta Gamma sorority.

Accompanying her to the meeting which will last into the first week in July, will be Mrs. John Hallet and Mrs. Robert Hinds.

A trip to their grandparents' house was being greatly anticipated by Bradley, Brenda and Bethany Brestel, who left yesterday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Brestel for Chapel, where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Matson and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Brestel.

After several days in Chapel the Brestels will go on to Denver and Colorado Springs to spend the rest of the two week vacation.

Off to York for the weekend, today, are Mr. and Mrs. Winton Buckley and children. They will be the guests until Sunday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harrington and their family.

More than happy to be home again is Mrs. E. O. Erickson, who has spent the last five weeks at Bryan Memorial Hospital.

Much of the social activity in suburbia these days centers around visitors.

Arriving at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. VanVynckt on Thursday were Mrs. VanVynckt's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Perry, Tammy and Kim, of Ludlow, Mass.

On June 22nd, Mr. and Mrs. VanVynckt entertained informally at dinner in honor of their visitors. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hornbaker and family.

Guests who have already "been and gone" were Rev.

and Mrs. Robert Gevers, Karen and Bobby, of Fort Wayne, Ind., who arrived June 3, to spend two weeks with Mrs. Gevers' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Koop.

On the evening of their arrival, the visitors were entertained at a family gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Janke.

About 27 members of the family were present for the occasion.

And, just-for-a-day visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brock, of Plattsburg, N.Y., who stopped to visit briefly with Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. LaBend, en route to New York from a vacation in Missouri.

Mr. Brock and Mr. LaBend were previously associated in the Astronautical Division of General Dynamics Corp.

In Lincoln for the wedding of Miss Catherine Clifford and Donn Mann, which takes place today, are Mr. and Mrs. John Mann, of Covina, Calif., who are the houseguests of Mr. Mann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd S. Mann.

Also here for the wedding are Mrs. Mann's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Sanmann of Lost Springs, Wyo., who also are houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Mann.

Both of the out-of-state couples will remain in Nebraska for a week or so; and Mr. and Mrs. Sanmann will spend some time in York before returning to Wyoming.

In town, Tuesday, for an overnight visit with Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hannegan, were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Moir and their children Lisa and Scotty, from New Mexico.

In honor of the Moirs, who are former residents of Country Club Terrace, neighbors were invited to a cook-out by Mr. and Mrs. Hannegan.

Dear Abby

Dad's Lessons Could Be Handy

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old boy. My father is teaching me how to dance. He is supposed to be a real good dancer (at least that's what my mother says.) Well, maybe he was considered good in his day, but he dances like they used to way back in the early 40's, and I can't get it. Anyway, even if I could I wouldn't care to dance that way because no one dances like that any more. How can I cut off his lessons without hurting his feelings?

LEARNING TO DANCE
DEAR LEARNING: Don't be foolish. Let him teach you. It might come in handy when you have to dance with your girl friend's mother. In the meantime, get someone in your generation to teach you how to dance 1962 style.

DEAR ABBY: My two-year-old son sucks his thumb. I have discussed it with his pediatrician who advised me to ignore it. My problem is this: Whenever I take the child marketing, strangers will say to him, "Does that thumb taste good?" Or, BIG boys don't suck their thumbs!" All this teasing and shaming have aggravated the habit. I have even had clerks pull his thumb out of his mouth while I paid for my purchases. What should I do?

MRS. J.
DEAR MRS. J.: You can't control the remarks of strangers. Ignore them, too.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday I received an invitation to a shower by the mother of the bride. On the invitation was written: "PLEASE BRING SANDWICHES."

I am not a relative. I wasn't sure if she meant I should bring sandwiches for the crowd, or just for myself, so I called her up and she said to bring a sandwich just for myself as she'd serve coffee. I have never heard of a shower like this, have you? And I never knew the bride's mother could give the shower. Will you please straighten me out?

NEWS TO ME
DEAR NEWS: It is news to me, too. YOU are all straightened out, my dear. It is the bride's mother who is confused. SHOWERS for brides should be given by friends — not relatives. And a guest should not be asked to bring her own lunch.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to marry a very handsome, middle-aged man. The only thing I don't like about him is the way he brags about what a big success he has been with the women all his life. I've told him I didn't care to hear stories like that, but he always gets back to it. It's his favorite topic. Do you think this is a serious fault or should I just overlook it?

LEONA
DEAR LEONA: Overlook it if you love him, but remember — when a man oversells a product, prepare for a big disappointment.

How's the world treating you? For a personal unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

More Fun Tops

Patricia Scott

Here are three more fun tops. Use a blouse pattern similar to the one here, and trim as follows.

FISH TOP: aqua fabric; 1 yard of turquoise ripple trim; 1 yard of turquoise junior ripple trim; 1 package each of 3-inch bias skirt facing in canary, turquoise and Nile; 1 package each of metallic rickrack in red, orange, aqua, emerald, sapphire, gold and silver; 1 package of silver midly braid; 3 rhinestone buttons for eyes.

Cut three fish shapes. Make the largest $9\frac{1}{2}$ inches long and $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches wide across the tail. Cut the second $\frac{1}{2}$ inch smaller than the first, and the third $\frac{1}{2}$ inch smaller than the second. Cut the smallest fish from canary bias facing; the medium-sized fish from two 9-inch strips Nile facing, pieced together lengthwise; the large fish from two 9- $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch strips turquoise facing, pieced together lengthwise. Baste edges under $\frac{1}{4}$ inch. Sew eyes in place. Trim the small fish with one strip each of red, orange and gold rickrack running lengthwise from just below eye to end of tail. Trim the medium fish with one strip each of merald, aqua and silver rickrack running the same way as on the small fish. Trim the large fish with cross bands of rickrack just below the eye as follows: one silver, one aqua, two emerald, one sapphire and two V-shaped sapphire strips for the tail.

Stitch midly braid "lines" from neckline as follows: 2- $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch strip at center front for large fish; 2- $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch strip right of center for the medium fish; 2- $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch strip left of center for the small fish. Pin fish to "lines" and top stitch. Stitch ripple trim 1- $\frac{1}{2}$ inches from bottom edge and junior ripple 3- $\frac{1}{2}$ inches from bottom.

Daisy Top: lime fabric, one package each of 2-inch bias skirt facing in emerald and white; 1 package of emerald single-fold bias tape; a jet black button.

Cut a paper petal 3- $\frac{1}{4}$ inches long and 1- $\frac{3}{4}$ inches at its widest part. Bring to a point at one end and make it 1-inch wide at the other. Cut a 6- $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch strip of white facing for each petal; press edges flat; fold strips in half; trace paper pattern on the double strips; stitch around outline, leaving the 1-inch end open for turning. Cut out petals, leaving a $\frac{1}{8}$ inch seam allowance. Turn and press. Make two emerald leaves from the petal pattern in the same way. The stem is a 16-inch strip emerald tape. Stitch decoration to blouse 1- $\frac{3}{4}$ inches left of center, starting at bottom edge. Pinch-pleat leaves at the open end; top stitch them to stem 6 inches up along both stem edges. Pinch-pleat and stitch open ends of petals at top of stem for the daisy. Sew button at the daisy's center. Tack middle of the petals and leaves to blouse from the inside. Stitch emerald facing to wrong side of bottom edge; turn to the right side and top stitch.

RUFFLE TOP: red fabric; one yard 3-inch eyelet ruffling; one package pink-checked bias tape.

Stitch ruffling to bottom edge of blouse. Stitch the checked tape over top edge of ruffling and around the neck. Make two bows of checked tape, and tack them in place as shown.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters.

Opening lead — queen of hearts.

Here is an unusual case of a safety play that failed and yet was rewarded in an unexpected manner.

South opened with three no-trump, showing 25 to 27 points, and North, assured of at least 33 points in the combined hands, raised to six.

West led the queen of hearts. Declarer won with the king, cashed the ace of diamonds and then played a low diamond towards the ten. Declarer was trying to protect against the possibility that the suit was divided 4-1 with East holding the Q-J-x-x originally. If this turned out to be the case, he could hold himself to one diamond loser after West showed out.

But unluckily for South, West took the diamond with the jack and it was East who showed out. The situation didn't look good at this point, since South now had only ten sure tricks available.

West returned the jack of hearts, taken with the ace.

South then cashed the A-K-Q of clubs, hoping for a favorable division in that suit, but East showed out on the third round. When declarer next cashed the K-Q of spades, this became the position:

The lead of the jack of spades now placed West in a deadly squeeze. He could not afford a diamond discard because that would make all of South's diamonds good.

Nor could West afford to discard the ten of hearts because that would make the nine a trick, which, in turn, would squeeze West again when the nine was cashed.

The same result would be achieved if West discarded the jack of clubs instead of the ten of hearts.

West didn't bother to discard. He just gave up.

PLEASE CHECK YOUR EVERGREENS

Red Spider Mites are sucking the Evergreen Needles Dry... and MUST BE KILLED AT ONCE! To check for Red Spider, place a white sheet of paper under a branch of the evergreen and shake the branch briskly. Tip the sheet of paper up and let dead needles slide off paper. Look close for mites that look like pencil dots... if in doubt, fold paper with mites inside and if the mites are present there will be red smears on the paper.

Reservoir Gets Morrison's OK

No Fundamental Conflict Between Plan, Other Loup Work—Governor

Columbus (P) — Gov. Frank Morrison told a water conservation meeting at Columbus Friday there is no fundamental conflict between the proposed Fullerton reservoir and other Loup River projects, but they should be built on an integrated basis.

He made the comment in advance of a trip to Washington next week when he will discuss the whole area of water conservation and utilization in Lower Loup and Platte areas, with Secretary Udall of the Department of Interior.

The governor said the most important value of this reservoir, which would be constructed just west of Fullerton, would be recharging the underground water table downstream. But he said its construction could also guide industry to locate in the area and there is a tremendous tourist potential.

Governor Commended
Clarence Wittler, president of the Loup River Public Power District board of directors, commended the governor for his public endorsement of the project.

Proponents of the project listed 5 major benefits to Nebraska.

They said it would:
—Reduce flood damage in all downstream areas.

—Provide an ideal recreation area within easy reach of one million persons.

—Eliminate a "dry river" in the summer months.

—Provide summer replenishment of the underground water system.

—Save water to irrigate crops and generate low-cost electric power.

Communities represented were Palmer, Fullerton, Genoa, Monroe, Columbus, Schuyler, North Bend, Fremont, Valley, Omaha, David City and Lincoln.

Tom Eason of North Bend heads the Lower Loup-Platte Water Association, whose members discussed the project from the viewpoint of their own communities, furnishing the governor with additional material to take with him to Washington.

3-Year-Old Injured Slightly In Accident

Thomas LeRoy Doggett, 3, of 5717 Madison was injured slightly in a two-car collision at 28th and J Friday afternoon, police said.

The youngster was a passenger in a car driven by his mother, Mrs. Paula J. Doggett, 22. The other car was driven by Wayne L. Higgins, 30, of 215 First, West Lincoln, according to police.

OAS Calls New Fight In Algeria

Algiers (P) — The west Algerian Secret Army command Friday night ordered a new and perhaps more bloody fight against independence for Algeria from France.

After the announcement an explosion and fire swept the Oran city hall and gunfire rattled in the heart of that western city.

The order came from fugitive ex-Gen. Paul Gady in a pirate broadcast beamed at Oran. He said peace contracts with Moslem Nationalists had failed.

The Secret Army in Algiers announced last Sunday it had reached agreement with the Moslems on a truce based on the inclusion of European settlers in Algerian security forces now being set up by Moslem Nationalists who will rule after independence.

Governor's Son Joining Ogallala Law Firm July 1

Ogallala (P) — Frank B. (Biff) Morrison Jr. will enter law practice here about July 1 when he joins the firm of McGinley, Lane, Mueller and Shanahan, it was announced here.

The son of Gov. and Mrs. Frank Morrison is a 1962 University of Denver law school graduate and recently passed his Nebraska bar examination.

He is married to the former Sharon MacDonald of McCook. They have one child.

Seward Driver Fatally Stricken

A 65-year-old Seward man suffered a heart attack and died at the wheel of his car on Nebraska 79, about a half mile north of U.S. 34, the Nebraska Safety Patrol reported Friday afternoon.

He was identified as Glen Miers, head of the State Highway Shops in Seward.

The car went off the road and into a ditch where troopers found Miers shortly after noon.

His death, however, will not be counted as a traffic fatality.

SENATE UNIT MOVES TO COVER PAYROLL NEEDS

Washington (P) — The Senate Appropriations Committee acted Friday to provide $277,122,000 in emergency funds to federal agencies which have run out of money.

It approved a resolution to make this amount available immediately to meet Secret Service and other payroll and provide urgent expense money.

A months-long feud between the Senate group and the House Appropriations Committee has stymied final action on major regular appropriations bills.

This controversy stems from argument over whether a Senator or a Representative should preside at Senate-House conferences to iron out differences in all money bills. Because of this deadlock,

Farm Bill Defeat Cost Taxpayers $1 Billion—Hanson

Omaha (P) — State Democratic Chairman Russell V. Hanson declared Friday that the defeated farm bill would have saved taxpayers $1 billion annually.

He declared the Republican vote against the bill — with the exception of Rep. Phil Weaver of Nebraska — "was an effort to perpetuate the failures of Ezra Benson" (Secretary of Agriculture under President Eisenhower).

"Republican talk of economy is a mockery in view of their vote to block the savings that would have come through passage of the Kennedy farm bill," Hanson said in a statement.

Straight Ahead

Opportunity knocks. God is calling. Their eyes are on the future and their ears attuned to the marvelous workings of His great universe. They are the new Adam and Eve; here the race gets a fresh start. The family, the state, the church will be determined by the "Straight Ahead" way they go. Our hope is here.

Love and faith conquer the world. Earth and sea, and sky do their bidding as they go forward to possess the earth. Clean of blood, alert of mind, and warm of heart, they "press onward to the mark of the high calling which is in Christ Jesus." They learned in church that they would need the Shepherd's staff when they pass through the valley of the shadow. They know that a profound trust in Almighty God will deliver them to the port of entry to the Kingdom of God, as they march determinedly "Straight Ahead."

If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Jean, Dorothy Set For Torrid Climax

By DON BRYANT
Star Sports Editor

No upsets were manufactured in the Women's City Golf Tournament at Hillcrest Friday, thus insuring the expected championship wind-up between defending titlist Jean Hyland and former champ Dorothy Schwartzkopf.

Mrs. Hyland got a stiff 9-hole battle from Sally Roper, but warmed up on the backside to oust Mrs. Roper, 4 and 3.

Mrs. Schwartzkopf sizzled Hillcrest with a one-under par game to eliminate Lou Vermaas, 6 and 5.

Here are the cards:

PAR OUT 354 644 535-41
Hyland out 354 644 444-41
Roper out 354 745 544-42
Schwartzkopf out 354 654 444-40
Vermaas out 353 655 545-43
PAR IN 353 445 355-29-80
Hyland in 453 555 —
Roper in 565 655 —
Schwartzkopf in 544 —
Vermaas in 555 —

The Hyland-Schwartzkopf finale will commence at 8:30 a.m. this morning and it should be a torrid meeting.

Both women have been playing fine golf all week.

Jean qualified with a 79, Dorothy with an 81; Jean reeled off 13 straight pars Thursday in ousting Miriam Sanders, Dorothy was one under par in her quarterfinal victory; Jean was one over in semifinal play and for the second straight day Dorothy was one under.

So most observers are tabbing the title match a toss-up.

Friday's semifinal action insured a continuation of the Hyland-Schwartzkopf domination that has endured since 1956 when Sara Lehman won.

Mrs. Hyland won championships in 1957, 1960 and 1961; and has a total of 6 titles; Mrs. Schwartzkopf captured the crown in 1958 and 1959.

However, they've met in the finals only once before, in 1958 when Mrs. Schwartzkopf took a 1-up on 19 win.

In 1957 and 1961 Mrs. Hyland defeated Mrs. Schwartzkopf in the finals of the Women's State Tournament.

First flight finals will match Betty Abel and Mike Holmes at 8:45 a.m. Mrs. Abel whipped Ann Magee, 8 and 6, and Mrs. Holmes erased Irene Stromblad, 4 and 3.

Rose Sweetman will meet Phyllis Fastabend for the second flight crown at 8:59 a.m. Mrs. Sweetman beat Virginia Goetz, 1 up on 20 Friday, while Mrs. Fastabend took a 1-up victory from Jo Sage.

Bert Sibley, who defeated Beckman, 6 and 5, will meet Sara Lehman, 4 and 3 winner over Jane Dobson, for the championship flight consolation title. Tee off time is 8:15 a.m.

And in the first flight consolation championship match, Eileen Mills, who defeated Barbara Fordham, 4 and 2, will meet Margaret Wise, 8 and 7 winner over Stella Kaufman at 8:52 a.m.

Ford Is Eastern Whiz

Baltimore (P) — Doug Ford, deadly with his approach shots and putting, shot a 7 under par 65, one shy of the golf course record, for a comfortable cushion Friday in the second round of the $35,000 Eastern Open.

The 39-year-old topnotch campaigner for the past dozen years winged around the first 9 holes of Mount Pleasant in only 30 shots, 6 under par.

He snagged his only bogey 5 on the 13th and in a flourishing finish birdied the last two holes. His 36-hole total of 134 was 10 strokes better than par and he led his nearest pursuers by 6 strokes.

Ford, who is playing out of Tam O'Shanter Course on the north shore of Long Island, used his putter only 26 times for the 18 holes. Par allows you 36.

At the 445-yard ninth, Ford didn't have to even take his putter out of the bag. He chipped in the hole from 30 feet away for his 5th birdie 3. His other birdie two on the outgoing nine was a soft touch after he hit to within two feet of the 140-yard sixth.

After taking the allowed two putts on the first hole for a par, Ford putted only once on 6 straight greens.

His only slip came at the 395-yard 13th where he was right of the green on his second shot, chipped poorly and carded a bogey five.

At the 201-yard 17th, he sank a 15-foot putt for a birdie two and another of the same distance for a birdie 3 on the 18th.

Ford's nearest threats going into the 3rd round of the 72-hole tournament were Bobby Nichols, 26-year-old Kentuckian, Julius Boros, another old pro from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Howie Johnson, 36-year-old Chicagoan.

—CHAMP WINDOW SHOPS IN BERLIN—

Johnson Is Confident For Clash With Scholz

Berlin (P) — American Harold Johnson is a confident and prohibitive 4-1 favorite to successfully defend his world light heavyweight title against Germany's Gustav (Bubi) Scholz in the outdoor Olympic Stadium tonight.

A crowd of about 50,000 is expected to pay about $175,000 to see the 32-year-old, once-beaten Berliner attempt to become Germany's second world boxing champion.

The only German world champion, Max Schmeling who won the heavyweight crown 32 years ago this month, will be among the spectators for the 15-round bout.

Loose and relaxed the 33-year-old Johnson and his wife, Mildred, went window shopping Friday on the eve of his 4th title fight.

Johnson, of Philadelphia, usually makes no bold predictions on his fights. But for this one he said he expects to knock out Scholz between the 7th and 9th rounds.

Scholz, unbeaten in his last 23 fights over a 4-year span, France's Charles Humez on March 11, 1958. The stocky German's won-lost-draw record is 85-1-6 including 46 knockouts.

In his last two fights the handsome Berliner stopped Americans Jesse Bowdry (6th round) and Neal Rivers (5th round) in April and May in Berlin.

Scholz, who is ranked 4th by Ring and 7th by the American National Boxing Association, fought just once in the United States. He outpointed Al Andrews in 10 rounds at Madison Square Garden and then returned to Germany where he found the competition easier and the purses better.

A southpaw, his power is represented mainly by his left hook. It is generally agreed that he has to connect with the hook to win. Johnson has been stopped 3 times and has 31 knockouts to his credit. His over-all record is 68-8.

Scholz saw Johnson outpoint Doug Jones of New York at Philadelphia last May 12 and praised the champion's versatility.

"He is a very fine boxer and knows every punch in the book," said Scholz. "I still have hopes of beating him."

The victory over Jones gained almost world-wide recognition for Johnson as champion. Only California still considers old Archie Moore as the champion.

The Philadelphia had earned the NBA's title by stopping Bowdry in the 9th round on Feb. 7, 1961. In two defenses the same year he knocked out Von Clay in the second round and outpointed Eddie Cotton in 15.

If Scholz wins, he is committed to a return fight in Philadelphia within 90 days. Johnson has been guaranteed a purse of $50,000. Scholz will collect $25,000.

Definitely Lane Mantle Returns; Yankees Continue Losing Ways

... DETROIT DELIGHTS 43,723 FANS

Detroit (P) — The Detroit Tigers, with an effective attack of two-base hits and strong pitching by Hank Aguirre, overpowered the New York Yankees 7-5 Friday night in the opener of their 5-game series.

The game marked the return of Mickey Mantle as a Yankee starter for the first time since May 18. The crippled slugger gave his injured left knee a 6 and one-half inning test in right field and ran at half speed with a noticeable limp.

Mantle reached base his first two at bats and scored both times, but he was extremely slow and cautious on the base paths. He never was able to advance more than one base at a time.

In the field, Mantle had only one chance, a fly ball, which he handled flawlessly. But he permitted another fly most right fielders would have caught to fall in for a single.

The Tigers belted out 11

State Tennis Tourney Reset

Omaha (P) — The Nebraska Open Tennis Tourney scheduled originally for June 28-July 1 in Omaha has been postponed until Aug. 23-26.

The postponement was made so that the meet will not conflict with the Missouri Valley Tennis Association Juniors Tourney at Kansas City June 28-30 and the Nebraska Jaycee Tourney at Alliance on the same dates.

Houston Duo Into Golf Finals

Durham, N.C. (P) — The University of Houston corralled both spots in the NCAA golf tournament finals Friday as All America Homero Blancas and medalist Kermit Zarley each scored two victories.

Blancas lost only one hole all day as he turned back Tom Shaw of Oregon, 3 and 2, with a two under par performance in the afternoon semifinals following a 5 and 4 morning quarterfinals victory over Jim Ferriell of Louisville.

Zarley, who plays No. 3 on Houston's championship team back of Blancas' No. 1, birdied the last hole for a one up afternoon victory over huge Bill Garrett of North Texas State. In the morning round Zarley was even par as he put out Jim Ewing of Southern California, 5 and 4.

The Houston teammates will meet over 36 holes for the title today.

For the second year in a row teammates will meet for the championship. Jack Nicklaus, new U.S. Open champion, defeated Mike Padolski in an all-Ohio State final front nine against Garrett, a last year.

Blancas, son of a Houston golf course greens keeper, is a compact 5-10, 185-pound 24-year old. Zarley, who is 20, has lost some weight in the steaming heat here this week and is down to about 155 pounds but vows he'll take on poundage once he gets back to his father's Yakima, Wash., restaurant.

This is Zarley's first NCAA tournament and the 3rd for Blancas, a first round loser twice before. The swarthy Texan reached the 4th round of the National amateur last year, beating veteran internationalist Bob Gardner en route.

Blancas and Shaw, an ex-Marine, halved 10 of the first 13 holes of their tense duel over the 6,823-yard par 71 Duke course, even-hole in a day of steaming humidity.

Blancas had won the first hole with a par but lost the 5th to a 12-foot birdie putt. He regained the lead with a birdie from 3 feet on the short 8th and held it the rest of the way.

Shaw put out another Houston player, soph Mark Hopkins, in the morning round, 3 and 1.

A 12-foot putt by Garrett on the 10th squared it as Zarley three-putted. But the Houston player swept the 12th and 13th with a par and a birdie to go 2 up.

Garrett missed a 4-footer and had to settle for a half on the 14th and then pulled off the shot of the day on 15 to cut Zarley's lead to one hole. Garrett hit his tee shot far to the left of the pin in the rough, high up on a hill. From there, he chipped into the cup, 65 feet away, for a winning birdie.

Cracks Ty Cobb Total Base Mark

... CARDS SPLIT PAIR

Philadelphia (P)—Stan (The Man) Musial set a new major league record for career total bases Friday night as the St. Louis Cards defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 7-3 in the first game of a two-night doubleheader, then dropped the nightcap 11-3.

In the opener Musial hit a home run and two singles to break the immortal Ty Cobb's major league record of 5,863 total bases. Musial raised his count to 5,866 by adding another single in the nightcap.

"For some reason I never paid much attention to that record," said the 41-year-old Musial. "But my friends tell me it will eventually be the one I will prize the most."

Jim Owens, who has been in Phillies' manager Gene Mauch's doghouse because of overweight, still looked heavy but he was professionally efficient while setting down the Cardinals with 9 scattered safeties in the second game.

In fact, the only runs off him came on a two-run homer by Don Ferrarese, the Cardinals rummy relief pitcher and a solo clout by Gene Oliver.

Sadowski HR Peps Chisox To Win, 5-1

Chicago (P) — Bob Sadowski's 3-run pinch homer in the 8th inning and a splendid 9-inning relief job by Dom Zannie gave the Chicago White Sox a 5-1 victory over the Kansas City A's Friday night.

Sox starter Joe Horlen yielded singles to the first two batters in the opening inning and left the game with a sore arm. Zanni came in, got the Sox out of the jam and went on to record his 5th triumph against two losses on a yield of 7 hits.

Dan Pfister, Kansas City right-hander, had a one-hit shutout going until the 6th when the Sox picked up two unearned runs on a single by Luis Aparicio, a couple of errors and Floyd Robinson's single.

The A's picked up an unearned run in the top of the 8th on a single by Manny Jimenez, an error and Joe Azcue's two-out single.

Orioles, Red Sox Divide

Baltimore (A) — Hobie Landrith's two-run homer with one out in the 9th gave the Baltimore Orioles a 4-3 victory in the second game of a two-night doubleheader Friday night, after the Boston Red Sox won the opener 2-1 in 10 innings.

The drive down the right-field foul line came off Boston reliever Dick Radatz, who took over from starter Don Schwall in the 9th. Schwall was removed after suffering a muscle spasm in his side.

Three of Landrith's 5 hits since he joined the Orioles earlier this month have been homers.

Rookie Boog Powell, whose 469-foot homer in the 7th inning was the first ball ever hit over the center field hedge in Memorial Stadium, opened the Oriole 9th with a single.

Earl Robinson ran for Powell, but was forced at second on an attempted sacrifice by Jerry Adair. Landrith then hit a one-strike pitch just inside the foul pole.

The blow gave veteran Robin Roberts his 3rd consecutive victory and the 237th of his major league career.

POLE VAULT MARK
Kauhava, Finland (A) — Pentti Nikula of Finland soared 16 feet, 2 1/2 inches Friday in the Finnish National championships, bettering the world pole vault record.

Nikula, who had cleared the same height a week ago when the vault wasn't allowed, hit the record height on his first try Friday night. Using a fiber glass pole, the Finnish athlete tried for 16-5 1/4 later but missed on two tries.

MOSS HEADED FOR HOME

Stirling Moss, 32-year-old British race driver, leaves the hospital and said he hoped to be back driving on a race track next month. He was seriously injured in a race crash Apr. 23.

—REGAIN SECOND PLACE— Rollicking Twins Rack Angels In Double Bill

St. Paul-Minneapolis (A) — Minnesota surged back into second place in the American League Friday night with a doubleheader sweep over Los Angeles, winning the second game 8-3 behind Camilo Pascual's 7-hit pitching after Angel catcher Bob Rodgers' throwing error gave the Twins a 3-2 win in the opener.

The double triumph enabled the Twins to gain half a game on Cleveland and left the Minnesotans 1 1/2 games back.

Pascual, registering his 10th triumph against 4 defeats, struck out 10 and walked none. He also doubled and hit his second home run of the season, driving in 3 runs.

The Twins exploded for 5 of their runs in the second inning off Angel starter and loser Dean Chance (5-4).

Earl Battey started it with his 4th homer of the year with two out. Chance never got the 3rd out as Pascual's two-run double, singles by Bernie Allen, Lenny Green and Vic Power, two walks and an error sent 4 more runs across.

The Twins bunched all their scoring in one frame in the first game, chasing home 3 runs in the 5th on a walk, Zoilo Versalles' single and two Angel errors. Rodgers let in the tying and winning run when he threw wildly to 3rd trying to pick Versalles off.

Aussie Handles McKinley

London (A) — Rod Laver of Australia killed the last American hope in the London Tennis Championships Friday with the same devastating form that made him last year's Wimbledon champion.

He crushed Chuck McKinley, the bouncy star from St. Ann, Mo., 6-3, 6-4 and reached the finals of this curtain-raiser for Wimbledon. In the other semifinals, Australia's Roy Emerson shattered Pierre Darmon of France 6-1, 6-3.

American hopes sank in the women's singles, too. Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica, Calif., was defeated by Mrs. Lorna Cawthorn, Britain's No. 8 player, in the semifinals 6-2, 4-6, 6-3.

Mrs. Cawthorn will meet another British girl, Rita Bentley, who upset Britain's Wightman Cup star, Christine Truman, 6-4, 6-2.

McKinley, America's brightest male hope for Wimbledon, put up a tough fight against Laver but the Australian was the master and one service break in each set swung the match in his favor.

McKinley had his service working well and scored with some scorching passing shots. But Laver sent a backhand screaming past him at the net to break his service in the 6th game.

McKinley seldom looked like breaking Laver's service. The Australian repeatedly forced him back to the baseline and moved up to the net for the kill.

The vital game of the second set was the 7th, in which Laver was virtually unplayable.

Tennis Finalists
Stanford, Calif. (A) — Rafael Osuna, Mexican Davis Cupper from the University of Southern California, and Marty Riessen, the Big 10 champion from Northwestern, Friday won their way into the finals of the NCAA tennis championships.

Shepard Chosen
New York (A) — Larry Shepard, manager of Columbus, will handle the International League All-Stars in their game with the Baltimore Orioles at Rochester, N.Y., July 11.

IKE URGES CUT IN DEFENSE BUDGET

Washington (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower climaxed a slamb-bang attack on the Kennedy administration Friday night with a call for a substantial reduction in the peace time record defense budget.

The former President also demanded cuts in multi-billion dollar outlays for what he called "low priority" space programs and denounced Democratic plans for a Jan. 1 tax reduction while the budget is in deficit.

Wave after wave of applause — mixed with cheers,

Accord In Ford Fight

Cleveland (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers Union reached agreement Friday night to settle a crippling strike at the Walton Hills Stamping Plant which has idled 77,000 workers.

The agreement, announced by M. M. (Mike) Cummins, director of labor relations for Ford, and Ken Bannan of the UAW, now must be ratified by the 3,200 workers at Walton Hills. A membership meeting has been set for 10 a.m. Sunday.

No details were disclosed. Bannan said they would be made first to the striking members, who walked out in a dispute over production standards early on June 7.

The big stamping plant makes parts for all Ford autos and the company closed down all 16 of its assembly plants shortly after the strike here cut off parts.

whistles and hurrahs—greeted Eisenhower's hard-hitting political assault on the Democrats, delivered to 3,000 Republicans who paid $100 a plate to help replenish the GOP war chest for the November congressional elections.

He charged the Kennedy administration with "floundering" aimlessly and desperately behind a front of "sophistication," but reserved his harshest fire for what he called wasteful and needless deficit spending.

"I must record my personal belief that substantial amounts in our current defense budgets reflect unjustified fears, plus a reluctance in some quarters to relinquish outmoded concepts," Eisenhower said.

"Accordingly, I personally believe — with, I am sure, very little company in either party — that the defense budget should be substantially reduced.

"At least, all America understands that every defense dollar wastefully expended, that every defense dollar needlessly appropriated, weakens this nation."

Eisenhower charged that the Kennedy administration "seems almost driven to alienate major elements of the business community" and said recent events suggest it wants to "dictate the economic decisions of management."

He said members of the GOP will maintain bipartisan support on foreign affairs throughout the coming congressional election campaign.

But he said the party has a responsibility to protest the "political maladministration, malfunctioning and maladjustment in Washington."

"Quite obviously, this administration is floundering — thrashing aimlessly and a bit desperately about — in the surging financial, fiscal and economic currents of our times," Eisenhower declared.

Mrs. Pavelka Named

Governor Morrison Friday announced the appointment of Margaret Pavelka, director of nursing at Lincoln's Bryan Memorial Hospital, to the State Board of Nursing.

She will complete the term expiring Nov. 30, 1965, and will replace Clara L. Smith who resigned recently.

Government Accuses Revlon Of Price Fixing

New York (AP)—The federal government Friday accused Revlon, Inc., one of the nation's largest cosmetic manufacturers, of price rigging on wholesale and retail levels.

In a civil antitrust complaint filed in federal court, the government contended also that the New York City firm illegally allocated sales territories and customers in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

The government asked for a court order to prohibit the company from antitrust practices which it said date back to as early as 1952.

The company issued a statement denying the charges.

Intend To Fight

"We intend to fight this complaint with all the vigor and talent at our disposal, in behalf of not only ourselves but of our customers," the company said.

Revlon sells a complete line of cosmetics to both wholesalers and by restricting the purchases of non-franchised wholesalers to part of the over-all line.

Franchised retailers, on the other hand, were required to buy directly from Revlon and permitted only to sell to the consumer public, the complaint claimed.

By cutting off supplies to any firm that failed to abide by its price schedules, Revlon maintained control of the prices, the government said.

Boys', Girls' Staters Head For Home After Busy Week

A hectic week filled with political activity and practical education in government ended Friday for 685 tired and wiser delegates to Cornhusker Boys' and Girls' State.

The halls at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education and the University of Nebraska's Student Union and Love Library echoed no more with the hustle and bustle of the high school seniors-to-be.

With diplomas in hand and more knowledge of Nebraska government in their heads, the youths checked out of their rooms and started for home.

Late Leaving

One Boys' Stater, however, was slightly late in heading home. Charles Cunningham of Randolph, under the impression Boys' State ended Saturday, had sent his parents a postcard asking them to pick him up then.

Friday afternoon, however, Charles called his father and mother. They came to Lincoln and picked him up.

Friday was a day of graduation and honors for the Boys' and Girls' Staters sponsored by the American Legion and its auxiliary.

Lancaster County District Judge Herbert Ronin delivered the Boys' State commencement address.

Accept Challenge

Speaking on "Alpha and Omega," Judge Ronin told the boys that Boys' State will have been a success only if they accept the challenge of constructive citizenship and put what they learned into practice.

Each Boys' Stater was presented a diploma and pin at the farewell dinner Friday noon. The outstanding town, Bataan, was honored for its members' high grades, participation in sports, band and chorus, officers, and quarters' neatness.

Trophies were given the outstanding Boys' State citizen, Federico Marquez of Hershey, and the best athlete, Larry Rathjen of Beatrice. Gov. Doug Sorenson of Scottsbluff also spoke.

Final Session

Friday morning, the boys toured the State Capitol and held the final session of their legislature. The senators voted down a proposal to establish a State Peace Corps and approved a bill setting up loans for study of natural sciences in the 4 state teachers colleges and the University of Nebraska.

The Girls' Staters heard a commencement address, "Baa, Baaa, Black Sheep," by Mrs. William J. McVicker, national vice president of the American Legion Auxiliary's northwestern division.

She urged the girls not to be like ordinary sheep in going along with the crowd. She told them they should do their own thinking and not swallow everything they are told without thought.

Each Girls' Stater was presented a diploma and a pin. Gov. Betty Swoboda of Norfolk urged the girls to practice what they learned.

Dale Debora Brodkey of Omaha Central was honored with a gold key for writing the top essay and a bronze medal for the highest grade on the government examination.

Other essay winners included Susan Bishop of Omaha, Martha Lee Ulbrick of Hooper, Judy Lane Wyman of Shelton, Karen Hastings of Elsie, Candace May of Omaha Benson, Margaret Shoemaker of Elgin, Audrey Braun of Eustis, Robyn Brook of Hastings, and Beverly Massie of Cozad.

An 8-girl panel evaluated Girls' State and agreed they had learned much about government, but advised future Girls Staters to study harder.
